

HISTORIAN EXAMPLE LORE BENEFITS

The Historian gains the ability to tap into their immense knowledge of the world of Kreyo to their benefit. As they continue to level, the knowledge of Kreyo becomes further unlocked, granting them access to the hidden secrets within. Below are examples of ways in which the Historian may use the information they have learned. These are not the only ways that the Historian may use their lore abilities, simply examples.

Lore Ability	Potential Uses
Basic History	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The Historian may use their understanding of the basic history of Kreyo to navigate endless ruins left behind by the failing mankind. - The Historian may use their understanding of the basic history of Kreyo to unlock ancient vaults, locked away with puzzles that require someone versed in the ancient religion. - The Historian may use their understanding of the basic history of Kreyo to track the remnants of man living within caverns below Kreyo.
Cultural History	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The Historian may use their understanding of cultural history to seamlessly infiltrate cultural celebrations without causing alarm by following the traditions. - The Historian may use their understanding of cultural history to rally soldiers of any nation, singing praise to their local heroes. - The Historian may use their understanding of cultural history to gain the trust of hostile settlements, breaking down cultural barriers by knowing the intricate nuances of the foreign culture.
Artifact History	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The Historian may use their understanding of legendary artifacts to discern myth from truth, providing the characters clarity within a sea of rumors. - The Historian may use their understanding of legendary artifacts to track stories told about the legendary artifacts, triangulating potential resting places for the artifacts. - The Historian may use their understanding of legendary artifacts to learn their effects and shortcomings, so that the party may adequately prepare were they to seek one.
Divine History	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The Historian may use their understanding of the divine spirits to practice their mannerisms and qualities, creating a facade of themselves as the divine spirit. - The Historian may use their understanding of the divine spirits to learn their goals, persuading them against one another. - The Historian may use their understanding of the divine spirits to track their paths, using the information as a resource for leading enemies in a trap.